Atlanta, Ga., has already raised over nine thousand dollars for the Grady monument.

A race war broke out in Jessup, Ga., Christmas day, which resulted in the killing of three or four whites and several colored men.

LaGrippe-influenza, has taken the country by storm, and thousands lie prostrate with the epidemic.

Quay is still the political dictator; nevertheless Pennsylvania Republicans are ripe for revolt from his rule.

Senator Allison now rises to remark that "uneasy is the head that wears the crown," speaking from experience.

The first white shad of the season were exhibited in Wilmington last week by J. W. Mitchell, a celebrated fisherman.

The United States furnishes homes for 7,000,000 of the 9,000,000 Germans now living beyond the borders of their native country.

Mrs. Robt. Tyler, at one time "lady of the White House," breathed her last in Montgomery last Sunday in the 74th year of her age.

Eight negroes, charged with murder, were taken from jail in Barnwell county, S. C., last Saturday and lynched by a body of masked men.

President Carnot, of France, receives a salary of $120,000 per annum, while the President of the United States receives only $50,000 per year.

Governor Goddell, of New Hampshire, has just issued a proclamation, which at once stamps him as the champion fool of the nineteenth century.

W. L. Douglass, the celebrated shoe man, has been elected mayor of his town, Brockton, Mass—a worthy compliment to a public-spirited man.

The Wilmington Messenger thinks that "of all the Emperors and Kings, living or dead, Don Pedro is the best," and we agree with Brother Kingsbury.

Congressman John Henderson, from the 7th District, is of the opinion that two-thirds of the House favor the repeal of the tobacco tax, and looks forward to the present Congress as the stormiest body ever assembled at Washington. Fillibustering bids fair to be the order of the day.

Not content with what devilment he has done, Ingalls is now scheming to get rid of the remaining surplus in the Treasury by pensioning the children of Union soldiers. Why not do like Mr. Harrison—call the roll of nearest relatives and include them also? The scheme would be quite as feasible.

The Durham Recorder issued a handsome 12-page Christmas issue, which was well filled with "Durham's Message" to the world, and handsomely illustrated with capital pictures of Durham scenes, Mr. J. S. Carr's residence, besides several other points of interest. The ear-marks of success characterized every feature of the issue, and Brother Hackney has our hearty congratulations.

THE CENTENNIAL OBSERVER ABROAD.

"A Credit to the Journalism of the Country."

Richmond (Va.) Dispatch.]

The Centennial number of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER is a credit to the journalism of the country. It is beautifully printed and profusely illustrated.

"An Album In Itself."

Troy Vidette.]

Brother Whitehead's Centennial edition of his paper—the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER—is a daisy. In it can be found very fair portraits of Senator Ransom, Gov. Fowle, Julian S. Carr and a number of other prominent men of the State. It is an album in itself.

"Worth a Year's Subscription Itself."

New Berne Journal.]

The Centennial number of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER is worth a year's subscription to that most excellent paper. It is extensively and beautifully illustrated, having more than eighty likenesses of prominent North Carolinians, including Senator Ransom, Governor Fowle, Auditor Sanderlin, Chief Marshal Carr and Evangelist Fife.

"A Creditable Illustrated Edition."

Raleigh Chronicle.]

The Centennial number of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER is a creditable illustrated edition of that excellent paper. It contains the portraits of Governor Fowle, Senator Ransom, Chief Marshal Julian S. Carr, other marshals and prominent citizens, besides much interesting matter, including a valuable historical sketch from the pen of Hon. Kemp P. Battle, LL. D.

"Most Handsomely Gotten Up."

Concord Times.]

The Centennial issue of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER is at hand. It is most handsomely gotten up, and the enterprising publisher certainly deserves much credit. It contains the portraits of 88 people, marshals, officers, &c., among which we notice those of Messrs. S. J. Pemberton, R. S. Young and W. R. Odell, of this section. Most of the pictures are excellent.

"Creditable Newspaper Enterprise."

Baltimore (Md.) Daily Sun.]

The Fayetteville (N. C.) OBSERVER reflects credit on its enterprising publishers. It appeared in the form of a ten-page illustrated paper, with eighty-six pictorial illustrations of many of the prominent actors in the recent great centennial celebration in Fayetteville. Numerous illustrations of prominent buildings, etc., were also given, as well as a great deal of interesting reading in connection with the celebration.

"The Most Perfect Success Connected with the Centennial."

Maxton Union.]

The most perfect success we have seen in connection with the Fayetteville Centennial is the Centennial edition of the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER. It is printed on very fine paper, and contains portraits of a great many of the Marshals and prominent men present. The cuts don't do our representatives full justice, but this cannot always be expected. Mr. Whitehead deserves great credit for this issue, and the public should show their appreciation by sending 10 cents and getting a copy to file away among the "archives of gravity."

"The Guiding Spirits of the South."

From the Baltimore Manufacturers' Record.]

The special Centennial edition of the Fayetteville (N. C.) OBSERVER is a very creditable performance. The issue makes 10 pages of well-written descriptive matter, and is filled with photographic cuts of pretty nearly all the prominent men of the Old North State. And a goodly array they make, too, mostly young men, but all wearing the air of alertness and liveliness which characterizes the guiding spirits of the South to-day. The paper is full of information as to the resources of Eastern North Carolina and the special advantages of Fayetteville.

"Surpasses Them All."

Asheville Daily Citizen.]

We say without disparagement to other similar enterprises yet undertaken in this State, that the Centennial issue gotten out by the FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER to commemorate and perpetuate the late brilliant celebration surpasses them all. It contains ten pages, is clearly printed on book paper, abounds with well written descriptive articles, letters and speeches, and is adorned with numerous engravings, portraits of distinguished men present, orators, divines, marshals and others. A high merit of the whole is that the work is all done at home. The illustrations are the work of the Carolina Engraving Company, of Fayetteville, and are excellent, and we find among them many a familiar face so truthfully presented that they seem to speak for themselves. We congratulate the OBSERVER on the perfect success of its admirable work.

"One of the Handsomest Ever Published in the State."

Lumberton Robesonian.]

The FAYETTEVILLE OBSERVER'S Centennial issue is to hand, and it is a handsome paper—one of the handsomest ever published in the State. It consists of 10 pages, and is well printed on splendid white paper. It contains photos of most of the marshals, State officers, Senator Ransom, officers of the Centennial Commission, and other prominent men of the town of Fayetteville and State of North Carolina. Among the handsomest faces in the group (we speak truthfully as well as complimentary) are Col. W. F. French, of our town, and Capt. O. H. Blocker, of Maxton. Among those who are now or have been recently in the newspaper business we notice Rev. Dr. C. T. Bailey, of the Biblical Recorder, Col. L. L. Polk, of the Progressive Farmer, Geo. S. Bradshaw, of Asheboro, Geo. W. Charlotte, of the Siler City News, H. C. Wall, formerly of the Rocket, H. I. McDuffie, formerly connected with the press of the State.

Don't hawk, hawk, blow, spit, and disgust everybody with your offensive breath, but use Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy and end it. 50 cents, by druggists.

WHERE SHALL DAVIS REST?

RICHMOND, VA., Dec. 27.—Major J. Ellyson yesterday received a letter from Mrs. Jefferson Davis, in reply to one he had written her transmitting resolutions of the city council, expressing the desire that the remains of her distinguished husband might be interred here. In her letter, which is dated "Beauvoir House," Beauvoir, Miss., Dec. 21st, Mrs. Davis said:

"If gratitude for the manner in which the people of Richmond sustained him during the war, his affection for her citizens and pride in the calm fortitude of her men and women under crushing defeat were to be the moving cause only I might lay him there unquestioned. But the State of his birth—Kentucky; the State of his adoption, which showered every honor upon him within her gift—Mississippi; the State where the Confederacy first unfurled her flag—Alabama; the State in which his parents spent their early life and where his father was born and where my husband received many honors—Georgia; the State in which we found friends and home and where our dead repose—Tennessee; and last, not least, the State which now gives him sepulture amidst the tears and plaudits of her people—Louisiana: all these have put forth claims so strong that I cannot choose among them, and have decided to wait perhaps a year before making a selection.

"To rest in the same soil with your immortal heroes, Generals Robert E. Lee and Stonewall Jackson, is a privilege fully appreciated, and I would be the last to undervalue the boon; but, when the final decision must be made, I cannot be unmindful of the rights of those who have done me the honor to claim the custody of my dead, and I beg you to have patience with me for a season. Nothing would gratify me more than to receive your committee at any time that it may be convenient to them. Whoever comes in the name of Richmond, where for four stormy years I found happiness in the tender ministrations of friends, is more than welcome to me and mine.

"I have, dear sir, the honor to be very respectfully and gratefully yours,

"VARINA HOWELL DAVIS."

Immediately upon receipt of the letter Mayor Ellyson summoned President Dickerson, of the Board of Aldermen, and President Campbell, of the Common Council, who with himself constitute the committee, and laid before them the letter. After a brief conference it was decided not to take any immediate steps looking to waiting on Mrs. Davis, but to defer the matter for a while.

Picking a Good Jersey.

National Stockman.]

A. R. West, Middletown, Pa., wants rules for selecting a good butter and milk cow of the Jersey breed. I know of no infallible rules for choosing cows; but, in a general way, it may be said that a good Jersey cow is about opposite in appearance to a beef animal. The neck should be thin, the face dished, the eyes large, gentle and wide apart, the horns small, and if yellow at the base all the better, the thighs sloping in, not straight down like the Shorthorn, the udder square and soft, without much meat, the teats of medium length and well-placed, the barrel large, holding a big lot of feed, the skin soft and flexible, the hair soft and silky, the disposition very gentle, size medium, and a general look of "motherhood" and "business" about her.

The escutcheon or milk mirror which I prefer is about two inches wide, running from the udder straight up to the uvula without break or deviation, and very distinctly marked. Now, a Jersey cow carrying all the above marks should be a good one, yet all signs fail sometimes. Then, too, I have cows lacking in many of these points, and yet they are excellent butter cows. There is only one infallible test of a good cow, and that is the churn and scales. If they show the right quantity of butter and milk, then the cow is all right; if not, all the best marks and indications count for nothing, except, perhaps, that the cow may have good calves, as sometimes the good qualities may skip one generation, to descend with full benefit to the next.

The Cash System.

The cash system gives the farmer his vote; educates him in the affairs of government; helps him to vote intelligently; annihilates difficulties; strengthens the intellect; makes home attractive; educates, feeds and clothes the children. It teaches the value of the brain; it makes the mother happy and contented; it wins friends; it fills the barn and larder; it obeys the command of God, "Owe no man anything." When we abolish the credit system, and adopt the cash system, we not only obey God's command, but instead of our creditor being master we call him friend. God, in His infinite wisdom and mercy, will smile upon and bless us.

Invested a Dollar and Realized a Million.

Brown and his friend Perkins were talking about investments.

"Once I invested $1,000 in real estate," said Perkins, "and doubled it in less than six months. That was the best investment I ever made. Pretty good, wasn't it?"

"I've done better than that," said Brown. "Two years ago I was told by all my friends that I was going into consumption, and I thought they were right about it. I had a dry, hacking cough, no appetite, my sleep came by fits and starts, and seemed to do me no good, and often there was a dull, heavy pain in my chest. I kept growing weaker and weaker, and at last night-sweats set in. I thought it was all up with me then. I had consulted two doctors and taken quarts of their medicine, and received no benefit from it. One day I happened to read something about Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and I made up my mind to give it a trial, but I didn't expect it would help me. I invested a dollar in a bottle of it, and it helped me from the first dose. It helped and it cured me, and when I compare my present good health with the miserable health of two years ago I think I am safe in saying that my investment was a much better one than yours. You can't reckon health by any measure of dollars and cents; if you could I should say that I had realized at least a million from my $1.00 investment." The Golden Medical Discovery is guaranteed to benefit or cure in all diseases for which it is recommended, or money paid for it will be refunded.

JUDGE SHEPHERD'S OPINION.

WASHINGTON, N. C., June 13, 1886.

Mrs. Joe Person's Remedy has been used by a member of my family, and the result has been very beneficial. I believe it to be a good medicine. JAS. E. SHEPHERD.

Mrs. Brown, the case alluded to in Judge Shepherd's testimonial, says:

WASHINGTON, N. C., July 20, 1886.

It is with pleasure I add my grateful testimony to the hosts of witnesses who have attested the virtues of Mrs. Joe Person's great Remedy. After years of debility and suffering, it has proven to me the best of tonics and blood purifiers. An obstinate, irritable ulcer on my ankle, from which I suffered agony for years, seems to have healed entirely and healthfully under its purifying effects, and my general health has greatly improved.

MRS. S. T. BROWN.

DR. J. H. MCADEN'S OPINION.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Aug. 15, 1889.

I consider Mrs Joe Person's Remedy the finest blood purifier that is on the market today. J. H. McADEN.

DR. THOS. HILL'S OPINION.

GOLDSBORO, N. C., Oct. 23, 1889.

Mrs. Joe Person, Madam:

About April, 1887, I treated Sam Privett, a lad about 15 years of age, for scrofula, affecting the glands of the neck. In spite of all treatment they grew from bad to worse, finally suppurating and becoming running sores. In the latter part of that year you were in Goldsboro, saw the boy and proposed to treat him. I had done all that I could for him, and considered his chances for life very small and told you so, and that if you would benefit him with your Remedy, I would give you a certificate of that fact. That you have done your part the boy is now a living witness, and I shall not hesitate to furnish your Remedy in any similar case I may be called on to treat.

THE SOUTH MOURNS.

"The field is white unto the harvest," and sore has of late been the loss of the South in some of its ablest and noblest men. A whole nation's stricken heart is still bleeding with the poignant wound caused by the death of Jefferson Davis, the patriot and statesman, and the almost universal and touching tributes to his memory attest the world's recognition of the loss which English-speaking people have sustained in the departure of this great expounder of the principles of pure constitutional liberty and government.

In the late tragic end of Capt. Dawson, of the Charleston News and Courier, and the untimely death the other day of Henry W. Grady, of the Atlanta Constitution, Southern journalism has cause for the profound mourning which laments the loss of conspicuous talents and commanding abilities.

In the very prime of physical and intellectual manhood, with that impulsive and magnetic nature which rendered his a most generous and thorough devotion to all the best interests of his country, Henry Grady's brilliant life was already reaching out for grander achievements and brighter guerdons than even the field of a newspaper career might offer, and to him there had almost come the fruition of the worthiest of all ambition:—service in behalf of his people and his country. Beyond the love and esteem of his own section, he had stormed and captivated the colder and more phlegmatic natures of our Northern friends, and the very flush of a triumph just won in the most cultured literary circles of New England was mantling his cheek when death's touch stopped the busy brain, stilled the eloquent lip and dulled the fire of the speaking eye.

It is well that the whole South mourns, for Grady belonged not to a State but to his common country.

A GOOD RECORD FOR ONE YEAR.

Last week's Manufacturers' Record, of Baltimore, published this admirable showing of the South's marvelous progress during the year 1889:

That 5133 new manufacturing and mining enterprises were organized in that section during 1889, against 3618 in 1886, 3430 in 1887, and 1575 in 1888. Amount of capital and capital stock of these companies was $229,703,500 in 1889, and $168,801,000 in 1888.

The total number of new industrial enterprises organized in the South during the last four years, or since January 1, 1886, of which the Manufacturers' Record has given full particulars, is over 13,700, divided as follows: Iron furnace companies 126, machine shops and foundries 441, agricultural implement factories 63, gas works 101, flour mills 535, furniture factories 220, cotton mills 267, water works 331, carriage and wagon factories 178, electric light companies 475, mining and quarrying enterprises 1810, lumber mills, including saw and planing mills, sash and door factories, stove factories, etc., 3036, ice factories 293, canning factories 425, stove foundries 25, brick works 585, miscellaneous iron and steel works, rolling mills, pipes, etc., 184, cotton compresses 114, cotton seed oil mills 148, miscellaneous enterprises not included in foregoing 4415. Total, 13,782.

Decrease of the Public Debt During 1889.

WASHINGTON, December 31.—It is estimated at the Treasury Department that there has been a decrease of nearly $4,000,000 in the public debt during the month of December. This makes the total reduction for the first half of the present fiscal year $24,065,116, as compared with a reduction of $31,522,398 during the corresponding period of previous fiscal year. The reduction for the calendar year ending to-day is $81,481,253, against a reduction of $91,536,148 for the calendar year 1888.

Railway Construction in '89.

Wilmington Star.]

Although the year now about to close does not compare with some of the preceding years in the number of miles of new railroad constructed in this country, still five thousand miles of new roads were opened up for business.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

At a called meeting of the Official Board of Hay Street Methodist Church, Fayetteville, N. C., on December 26, 1889, the following Resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, We have just heard of the death of our former Pastor, Rev. Jos. WHEELER, whose pure life, earnest preaching and faithful pastoral ministrations have proven a blessing to this congregation, and to the entire town, therefore

Resolved, 1st, That while we would bow humbly and piously to this, and all God's providences, we feel most keenly the loss of so faithful a man from our church, but we are consoled by the assurance that our loss is his gain.

2nd, That we tender to his bereaved family our sincere sympathies, and pray that God's sympathizing grace may be granted them.

3rd, That these Resolutions be conveyed to the family by the committee appointed to represent this church at the funeral, and that they be published in the Raleigh Christian Advocate and the town papers.

C. W. BYRD, Pres't.

W. W. COLE, Sec'y.

A Fine Record for Six Months.

In conversation with Mr. W. P. Fife here yesterday, we learned that during the six months of his Evangelistic work a little the rise of 2,700 people have been converted by his preaching. During Mr. Fife's recent meeting in Raleigh he visited the Penitentiary and preached several times to the convicts, and between 150 and 200 gave him their hands and confessed Christ as their Saviour. Many of them, Mr. Fife tells us, wept bitterly and showed signs of repentance.

IN MEMORIAM.

Death of Rev. Joseph Wheeler—Impressive Services in the Methodist Church—Eloquent Memoir and Addresses.

The telegram received here on Wednesday evening of 25th ult., conveying information of the death of Rev. JOSEPH WHEELER, at King's Mountain during the day, was received with deep sorrow in this community, though it brought not with it the shock of a great surprise. The many who loved and revered him, and had noted with the keen anxiety and deep solicitude of watchful affection the indubitable signs of failing bodily strength, had little hope of ever again clasping the hand of this faithful friend, or of hearing the voice of this honest servant of the Master.

From the promptings of tenderest sympathy his Conference and people had bidden him put off the armor of Christian and lay aside the weapons of the Cross, that tranquility and repose might restore vigor to his enfeebled frame; but for him there were but a few more days of labored breath, the opening of the tired eyes upon the bright sunlight of the birthday of the Prince of Peace, and his ushering into the supernal glories of the "rest that remaineth for the people of God." Tributes—to which our halting pen could add nothing—are appended, the utterance of eloquent lips, bearing abundant testimony to the graces of his christian life and his usefulness as minister and pastor. Criticism is disarmed in the presence of death, but it is rarely the fortune of the biographer of one who has passed away to find so entirely in the realms of truth the choicest flowers of eulogy as has been the case with those who pronounced encomiums on the character of the lamented Joseph Wheeler.

At 11 o'clock on Friday, 27th ult., at the hour on which the funeral ceremonies were taking place at King's Mountain, very solemn and impressive memorial services were held in the Hay Street Methodist Church. Rev. J. T. Gibbs, Presiding Elder of the District, Rev. C. W. Byrd, pastor of the church, Rev. T. P. Barclay, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, and Rev. W. B. Oliver, pastor of the Baptist church, occupied seats on the pulpit platform. The chancel and columns of the interior of the building, the swinging doors of entrance and the illuminated tablets were draped in black, the central tablet being framed in a setting of wheaten wreaths, with the inscription, "Sweet Rest in Heaven," and a full sheaf bound with white ribbon, typical of the full years and fruitful life of him who had gone to his God, "carrying his sheaves with him." In front of the pulpit, with a background of funereal crape, was a beautiful white floral crown—Heaven's reward to the soldier of Christ who had at last been permitted to lay down the cross.

The services were opened with a fervent and touching prayer by Rev. J. T. Gibbs, followed by readings from the Bible, and throughout the exercises the sacred music was exceptionally fine. Rev. C. W. Byrd delivered the following beautiful memoir in tribute of the life and character of the deceased minister:

This godly man was in your midst a little more than one week ago—the object of your sympathy on account of his enfeebled condition, and of your veneration and love on account of his godly life and pure and lovable character. He left you, hoping that change of location and rest from the cares and anxieties of the pastoral relation would restore him to health, but God has ordained it otherwise.

On Wednesday night a telegram from his daughter, announcing his death at some hour during that day, was put into my hands. This announcement was a shock to me, because I loved him as a brother minister, but the visible signs of the grief that was excited by the announcement of his death to the congregation that had assembled in the chapel for our weekly prayer-meeting made me realise how dear this faithful pastor was to this congregation to whom he has preached and for whom he has prayed during the last two years. Those tears of genuine grief were a higher tribute to the excellences of his character and the faithfulness of his labors than any words that I could use could possibly be.

His life was one signalized by devotion to his Church and to his God; and, wherever he labored, he won the hearts of the people by his gentle manners and his kind and sympathetic nature. Though he is gone, the sweet influences of his character will linger with us, and the currents of good that he started will flow on to meet him in eternity.

This is the second time that I have succeeded him as pastor. I used to wonder how he drew the hearts of the congregation to him, and held for all time so sacred a place in their affections; but last summer the secret of this devotion to him was explained, as he knelt with me in the house of mourning, and led us in a prayer that was so tender and sympathetic, such an earnest pleading of God's promises, and so full of faith in a Heavenly Father's wisdom and goodness, that the sweet influences which it called down upon us still linger in that home and in my own heart. One of this congregation has already revealed to me the secret of her love for him, as she spoke with a tenderness that was born in affliction of his prayers and his comforting words, as he knelt at her bedside and prayed for her, and talked to her of God's goodness and love.

He was one of the wisest and tenderest pastors I ever knew. He carried with him the spirit of the Master, and you could not spend an hour with him without feeling the uplifting influence of his chaste conversation and Christ-like spirit. He was not considered a great preacher by the masses, but the chasteness of his style charmed the cultured, the clearness of his reasoning enchained the attention of the thoughtful, and the deep spirituality of his doctrines edified christians and convinced sinners. The preaching of such a man is not to be estimated by the voice of the masses, but by the intelligent faith and robust christian character of his congregation. Measured by this standard, which is the true one—and I have enjoyed the opportunity of estimating his value by it—I have regarded him as one of the best preachers of the North Carolina Conference.

As a man, he was the highest type of a christian gentleman. He owed his distinction to no adventitious circumstances of fortune, nor to any single sparkling quality; but, looking to the whole of what forms a man, to what entitles him to rank high among that class of beings to which he belongs; in a word, looking to the mind and the soul, we pronounce him a christian gentleman of the highest type. He had a mind superior to fear, selfish interest and corruption; a mind governed by the principles of uniform rectitude and integrity, the same in adversity and prosperity; such a mind as no bribe could seduce, and no terror could overawe; such as no pleasure could melt into effeminacy, nor disasters sink into dejection.

This is the mind that forms the distinction and eminence of men. We can conceive of no situation of life in which he would have been either afraid or ashamed of acting his part with firmness and constancy. He was true to the God whom he worshiped, true to the faith in which he professed to believe. He was full of affection to his brethren, faithful to his friends, generous to his enemies, and warm with compassion to the unfortunate. He was self-denying to little private interests and pleasures, but zealous for the public interest and happiness.

He was magnanimous without being proud, humble without being mean, and just without being harsh. He was simple in his manners, but manly in his feelings. On his word you could entirely rely. His countenance never deceived you, and his professions of kindness were effusions of his heart. He was a man whom, independent of any views of advantage, you would choose for a superior, could trust as a friend, and could love as a brother. Such was the character of Joseph Wheeler. You honored him, you loved him; you do well to place a flower on his grave, and drop your tears of grief for his death to-day.

I have not sufficient data from which to write a sketch of his life, and can only mention a few of the more prominent events in his history. He was born something more than sixty years ago. His father is still living, and is a member of the North Carolina Conference. To his father he owed much, for it was his hand that molded to a large extent the splendid christian character that we have just sketched. He was brought up in the church of which he became so successful a minister. In early life he was converted—in his father's parlor, as I have heard. It was his father's custom to give one hour every Sunday afternoon to conversation with his children about personal religion, and prayer with them for the conversion of each child as he arrived at the years of personal accountability. It was at one of these Sunday afternoon services that his son Joseph was converted, as I have been told.

He entered the ministry, and became a member of the North Carolina Conference as soon as he was prepared by education for that high responsibility. During the early years of his ministerial life he was stationed at Fifth Street Church, Wilmington, at Plymouth and Tarboro. While at Fifth Street he married Miss Martha Sutton, who bore him six children, four of whom are now living. His first wife died while he was stationed at Tarboro. After the lapse of a number of years, he married Miss Lizzie Little, of Richmond County, who still survives him.

During the last eight years he has been stationed four years at Salisbury, two years at Concord and two years at Fayetteville. All of these charges prospered under his pastorate, and in Salisbury and Concord to-day there are sad hearts even as in Fayetteville.

His fidelity and zeal in his work are known to you all. I have examined the church register, and that tells the story of scores of souls converted and added to the church during his stay with you. But that is only a small part of the work that he has accomplished. He has brought the consolations of the Gospel into the homes of the poor and the sick and the bereaved of this town. His preaching has inspired the members of this congregation with intelligent faith and holy aspirations. His godly walk and pious example have been as powerful for good as his Gospel sermons. He not only pointed you to heaven but he led the way. We mourn the loss the church has sustained. We grieve that we can no more enter into his labors; no more enter the field that has been prepared by the faithful cultivation of this holy man. He is gone from our midst, but we know that one who lived as did he is at rest. May God's sustaining grace be granted to his wife, children and aged father.

Rev. T. P. Barclay, who had been invited to participate in the memorial services as one who knew the departed better than any other pastor of the city, followed Mr. Byrd in an address of rare beauty and deep feeling, moving many of the audience to tears.

After brief but eloquent and impressive remarks by Rev. W. B. Oliver, the services were concluded with the benediction.

Our Toilet Cream.

It is without doubt an excellent preparation for purposes intended. It softens the skin when hot and dry, either from exposure to the sun or wind, and as a soothing application for roughness of the face, chapped hands and lips is not excelled by any toilet preparation on the market. When applied to the skin it produces a feeling of coolness, and is entirely free from the stickiness of glycerine or greasiness of cold cream. It dries at once on chapped hands, thereby allowing the use of gloves immediately after using it, it being absorbed by the skin, which it renders soft and pliable.

For gentlemen to use after shaving it is delightful, being superior to bay rum, toilet water and the alcoholic preparations usually employed for this purpose. It does not irritate or produce smarting. Try it! Twenty-five cents a bottle, at Failures During the Year 1889.

During the year 1889 only two failures were recorded in the town of Fayetteville, with a population of from six to eight thousand people.

Marriage Licenses Issued from January to January.

The number of marriage licenses issued by the Register of Deeds for Cumberland county during the year 1889—from January to January—aggregate 190; 94 whites and 96 blacks.

Fires During the Year.

During the past year there were 24 fire alarms sounded in Fayetteville, as follows: 4 in January, 1 in March, 2 in April, 1 in May, 3 in June, 3 in August, 1 in September, 5 in October, 2 in November, and 1 in December.

Serious Accident.

We are deeply pained to learn that the venerated A. A. McKethan, who has been long confined to his house with feeble health, broke his leg above the knee last night while attempting to move from the bed to the bureau. Such an accident, in his physical condition, causes the whole community grave solicitude.

Caned.

The North Carolina Centennial Police force have, as a body, presented their Chief, Mr. Jas. D. McNeill, of this city, with a handsome gold-headed walking-cane, as a token of their appreciation of the royal treatment they received at his hands during the days of the great Centennial, when they stood as sentinels upon the watch-tower, guarding the rights and liberties of the people and their property.

The Capture of Jacobs.

Parties here from Robeson this week inform us of the arrest and capture of Purdie Jacobs, near Scuffletown, in that county, Christmas day, by C. F. Lowrie. Jacobs is a terror to the community in which he resides, and a reward of $200 was offered for his arrest at the time of his capture. Steve Jacobs, the notorious Robeson county outlaw, is still at large, and thought to be in hiding near the State line between North and South Carolina.

Serious Loss By Fire.

We greatly regret to learn of the serious misfortune of our friend, Mr. J. P. Robertson, living on the east side of Cape Fear River. On Friday morning last his residence was destroyed by fire, the flames spreading with such rapidity that not only the building but all the furniture, and even the clothing and other personal effects of the members of the family, were consumed. Worst of all, we learn that Mr. Robertson carried no insurance. The destruction of the homestead, with its belongings, of an old established family is a grievous loss which carries with it our hearty sympathy.

To Meet in Raleigh.

Hon. Thos. H. Sutton left Monday for Raleigh to attend a meeting of the Committee appointed by the last Legislature to make certain examinations, and ascertain, as far ar possible, whether or not railroads claiming exemptions from taxation are entitled to all the exemptions they claim. The following compose the Committee: Messrs. M. E. Carter, of Buncombe; E. W. Kerr, of Sampson; Hon. T. H. Sutton, of Cumberland; B. F. Aycock, of Wayne, and J. B. Holman, of Iredell. Senator Kerr is Chairman of the Senate Committee and Hon. M. E. Carter of the House.

New Year Reception.

The spacious and beautiful parlors of "Magnolia Hill," the residence of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Thomson on Haymount, were adorned with rare taste and elegance last evening, and were thronged with the numerous friends and admirers of Miss Laura Thomson and Miss Hattie Sutton, who, assisted by Mrs. Clem Huske—their loveliness enhanced, if possible, by rich evening costume—held a New Year reception, a most enjoyable occasion to all the guests, during which a delightful supper was served.

Token of Esteem.

Our excellent friend, Capt. J. B. Smith, the former efficient postmaster of Fayetteville, was the other day the recipient of a handsome gold-headed cane, richly-carved and -chased, a memento of esteem from his successor in office, Mr. D. F. Wemyss, and his father, Mr. W. P. Wemyss. May the day be far distant when his stalwart form shall need this token of friendship for other than purposes of ornamentation and setting off his charms, or when, like the "Last of the Knickerbockers"—

"The pavement stones resound as he totters o'er the ground
With his cane."

Christmas Church Services.

Rev. W. B. Oliver conducted divine services in the Baptist Church on Christmas morning at 11 o'clock, delivering one of those impressive and eloquent discourses which have already made his talents so universally recognized in the community.

In St. John's Episcopal Church, Rev. Thos. Atkinson delivered a brief but very appropriate sermon to the occasion. The decorations of the interior of the building were beautiful; the floral adornments of the altar and recess chancel were profuse and elaborate, while a blending of moss, ivy and other evergreens transformed the window hangings into tasteful drapings and leafy curtains very pleasing to the eye. Above the chancel glittered a star ingeniously arranged of many tiny gas-jets.

Fine vocal and instrumental music enhanced the interest of the services, with a beautiful solo by Miss Dugger, of Warrenton.

Christmas.

The Christmas holidays were spent here quietly but pleasantly. There were, of course, many delightful family reunions and gatherings, with receptions, dances, etc. It had been predicted by the average oracular prognosticator that the Centennial Celebration would be found to have emasculated Christmas of nearly all its fun and frolic on account of the attenuated and comatose condition in which it had left the finances of the Fayetteville people. But "all signs fail in dry weather;" and our merchants have to tell of the fine trade in all the material for bountiful tables, the plethoric stockings by the chimney-piece and the beautiful and useful souvenirs of friendship and affection.

Mr. Howell, of the Southern Express Company, had all his energies taxed in the dispatch of an immense business, his office being packed with boxes, baskets crates and packages for days ahead of the holidays.

Those whom custom had permitted to throw aside the cares of business passed the day in home recreation or the more active pleasure of gunning and fox-hunting, while the school-boy blew off his superfluous fingers and singed his hair and eye-brows after a time-honored fashion with the Canton fire-cracker.

A Pleasant Entertainment.

One of the most delightful occasions in the social life of the Christmas holiday season was the anniversary celebration of their "Cotton Wedding" by Mr. and Mrs. D. McD. Grady, at their residence on Green street, on the evening of Thursday, 26th ult.

The brilliantly lighted parlors were very elegantly decorated in unique and tasteful designs in cotton:—snowy banks of the soft staple on which nestled exquisite bouquets of flowers, white festoons entwined about the chandeliers, and fleecy garlands wreathing the walls, intermingled with the ivy and other evergreen.

From 8 to 12 P. M. there was little or no pause in the arrival of guests, bringing tokens of their affectionate esteem in beautiful and useful presents, and hearty wishes for the happiness of the young wedded couple, who received their friends in the right-hand parlor on entering, the fair young matron in lovely toilette of cream silk en train, the guests being successively escorted to the supper room to partake of a profuse and delicious collation. May the passage of years only add blessings to their married life, while benign temporal fortune grants them in turn the enjoyment of all the anniversaries marking the golden road of connubial felicity.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady were assisted by Miss Fannie Van Amringe, Miss Bert McDuffie, Miss Florrie Allen, Miss Alice Green, Miss Carrie Pemberton, Miss Emmie Belle Williams.

Increase in Church Membership, Lodges, &c.

The year 1889 forms a bright page in the history of the various Churches in Fayetteville. The increase in membership has been as follows:

Presbyterian,	101
Hay Street Methodist,	60
Campbellton Mission (Methodist),	6
Baptist,	25
Catholic,	00
St. John's Episcopal,	00

The Bishop having failed to visit the Episcopal Church in this city during the past year, and he alone being clothed with the power and authority to make confirmations, is the reason assigned for there having been no increase in the membership of the church, to report, during the past year. Several additions, however, have been made to the congregation.

The year 1889 has been no less remarkable for the increase in Church membership than for the rapid increase in membership of the various Lodges and Orders of the city.

On this score the increase may be summed up as follows:

Cross Creek Lodge No. 4, I. O. O. F., 35
Cumberland Lodge No. 5, K. of P.,, 12
Phœnix Lodge No. 8, A. F. & A. M., 7
Fayetteville Lodge No. 329, A. & A. M., 4

The World Moves!

Get Up and Ride!!

When the Big Guns in the Dry Goods trade, who are supposed to buy their goods on long time, insist on selling everything to everybody for strict cash, we think it is time for us heathen, who have to pay cash and cash only for our goods before we can ever see them, to follow in their illustrious footsteps.

It is a well-known fact that all dealers in Grain are compelled by the commercial law of the times to pay for their supplies before they can get them, however much such dealers may be worth, or however they may be.

We have decided therefore to adopt the same rule in selling that we have to abide by in buying. In our case, this should always have been the rule. The unbusiness-like methods of others being our only excuse for wrong-doing, we trust that all of our patrons will "catch on" to the "new departure," and show their appreciation of our endeavors in the past to please them, by continuing to give us their patronage.

Recollect that we sell you

The Human Ear.

St. Louis Republic]

Few people realize what a wonderfully delicate structure the human ear really is. That which we ordinarily designate so is, after all, only the mere outer porch of a series of winding passages, which, like the lobbies of a great building, lead from the world without to the world within. Certain of these passages are full of liquid, and their membranes are stretched like parchment curtains across the corridor at different places, and can be made to tremble like the head of a drum or the surface of a tambourine does when struck with a stick or with the fingers. Between two of these parchment-like curtains a chain of very small bones extends, which serves to tighten or relax these membranes, and to communicate vibrations to them. In the innermost place of all a row of white threads called nerves stretches like the strings of a piano from the last point to which the tremblings or thrillings reach and pass inward to the brain. A wonderful piece of mechanism, indeed!

A Burglar Killed.

Lexington Ledger, Dec. 25th.]

A burglar was killed in Davie county on Tuesday of last week. About midnight John Foster heard some one in his dining room, and quietly getting up from his bed he secured his 38-calibre revolver, and secreting himself in his bed-room, he waited for a chance at the burglar. In a short time the burglar slowly tip-toed to the bed-room and very cautiously opened the door and entered. In his right hand he carried a large ready-cocked revolver. Foster's wife lay asleep in bed, and the burglar cast a glance at her, and then went to the bureau and began to look through the drawers. He still had his revolver in his hand; but Foster getting the "drop" on him, yelled, "Throw up your hands." The burglar started to wheel around, but as he did so Foster fired, killing him instantly. The burglar was colored, but our informant could not learn his name.

Mr. Davis' Bond.

Norfolk Ledger.]

It may interest many of our readers to know the names of the persons who signed the famous bail bond which was given when he was released from that prison. We give them, therefore, in the order in which they appeared, as follows: Horace Greeley, New York; Gerrit Smith, Augustus Schell, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Horace F. Clark and Benjamin Wood, New York; Aristides Welch, Philadelphia; W. H. McFarland, R. Barton Haxall, Isaac Davenport, Abram Warwick, Gustavus A. Myers, Wm. Crump, James Lyons, John A. Meredith, William H. Lyons, Richmond; John Minor Botts, Thomas W. Dowell, Virginia; James H. Thomas, Jr., Richmond.

Killed on the Rail.

REIDSVILLE, N. C., Dec. 26.—An unknown man was killed on the railroad track in this place last night. His body was found this morning lying between the rails, terribly mangled. When found he was still bleeding, and it is thought that he was killed by a freight train which passed at an early hour this morning. Letters and receipts go to prove that his name is M. T. Thompson and that he had been staying in Greensboro. His body was interred this evening by Undertaker Smith at the expense of the railroad company.

"News."

The word "news" is derived from the initial letters of the four points of the compass—North, East, West and South. To all points of the compass let the good news go that for deranged liver, nervous headache, costiveness, impure blood, nausea, and many other disturbances of the system that make men mourn, there is a remedy. Thousands testify that Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets cure these troubles. Small but potent; one a dose.

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.

Syrup of Figs is for sale in 50c and $1 bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Do not accept any substitute.

BY THEIR WORKS

Ye Shall Know Them

THE LIGHTEST RUNNING, WILL DO A GREATER VARIETY OF WORK THAN ANY OTHER MACHINE IN EXISTENCE.

THE ONLY VERTICAL FEED MACHINE IN THE WORLD. THE MOST SIMPLE CONSTRUCTED MACHINE MADE.

To the Ladies of Fayetteville and Surrounding Country: I wish in as few words as possible to inform you that at an early date I shall open an office in Fayetteville for the purpose of selling the best make of Sewing Machines in existence.

I feel safe in saying THE BEST, and you will bear me out in the assertion when you have given the CELEBRATED DAVIS vertical feed an examination.

NEW PRINCIPLES and NEW IDEAS are displayed. The old style and old principles are done away with. NO tooth feed to carry one piece of the fabric faster than the other. NO tension to change in using fine or coarse thread. No machinery to get out of order. IT IS A MECHANICAL WONDER, yet no more interesting for what it is than for what it will do.

At an early day in January I shall give an exhibition of the wonderful executions of this machine. This is not a mere advertisement to get you to come to our office, but a grand exhibition of DECORATIVE ART work which was once thought impossible for a sewing machine to do. All will be informed of the days of our opening and exhibition, and are cordially invited to come and see, and we know you will go away more than repaid for your time and trouble, and with a desire to be an owner of A DAVIS. OUR TERMS OF SALE will be so easy that all may become an owner. If you have an old machine it will not be a barrier. If not too badly worn we will take it in part payment for a new one. We want to put one in every good home in Fayetteville and surrounding country. We have 50 of these Machines now stored away in your town—when they are gone others will follow.

Very truly,
A. C. MELKE.
